 TORONTO Social Services

Toronto Social Services provides financial assistance on behalf of deceased Toronto residents who do not have sufficient funds in their estate to fully cover the cost of a basic funeral, burial and/or cremation.

Toronto Social Services will pay a funeral home or cemetery to provide funeral, burial and/or cremation services and products in accordance with the items and rates approved by Toronto City Council.

Important: Toronto Social Services must authorize services before a contract is signed with a funeral home or cemetery. Toronto Social Services will not reimburse the cost of a funeral, burial or cremation after a contract is signed, as it is not in a position to interfere with a legally binding contract. Partial payments to make changes to the services and products provided are not allowed.

Eligibility

Eligibility is based on the financial circumstances of the deceased person and the deceased person's spouse at the time of death. For example, assets, sources of income, RRSPs and life insurance will all be considered.

The deceased person does not have to be in receipt of Ontario Works or Ontario Disability Support Program assistance at the time of death to be eligible.

How to apply

It is preferred that the executor/executrix initiate the funeral arrangements. If there is no executor/executrix, a relative, friend or professional associated with the deceased person can apply. The person applying for the assistance should be the person making the arrangements at the funeral home, as the death certificate will include the name of the person who arranged the funeral.

If the deceased person was in receipt of Ontario Works or Ontario Disability Support Program assistance at the time of death, you can go directly to the funeral home of your choice. However, before making the funeral arrangements you must advise the Funeral Director that you will be seeking assistance for payment from Toronto Social Services. The Funeral Director will contact Toronto Social Services for payment authorization.

If the deceased person was not in receipt of Ontario Works or Ontario Disability Support Program assistance at the time of death, an application must be made at a Toronto Social Services office. It is recommended that you contact Toronto Social Services first to book an appointment and find out what information is needed to complete the application (for example, the deceased person's identification and asset information).

Services provided

Funeral homes and cemeteries understand the need for sensitivity and respect differences based on religious or cultural rites. Funeral directors and Toronto Social Services caseworkers have information to help with funeral plans. Assistance is only available if the funeral, burial and/or cremation is to take place within Ontario.

Funeral services

Toronto Social Services will pay the funeral home in accordance with the items and rates approved by Toronto City Council for either the simple transfer of the body for cremation, burial, or for a traditional funeral service.

Burial services

Toronto Social Services will purchase a burial lot. If the deceased person owned a lot or one was purchased on their behalf prior to their death, Toronto Social Services will cover the cost of opening and closing the grave, to a standard depth.

Cremation services

Toronto Social Services will pay for the cremation, including a standard urn provided by the crematorium. The cost of scattering the remains in a cemetery, burial in a pre-owned plot or cemetery common ground is also covered.
