 - The wait time for your appointment
- Links to sign up for patient portals
- Links to surveys about your experience at the hospital
- Questions for research about your experience at the hospital
- General information about your disease or condition (such as newsletters from the clinic or educational materials)
- General hospital announcements and clinic announcements
- General changes to clinic policies

If you have questions...

If you have any questions, or if you change your mind, please contact your doctor, care team or Patient Registration as soon as possible. For questions or concerns about your privacy, please visit our website at <https://unityhealth.to/protecting-your-privacy/>

FREQUENTLY ASKED QUESTIONS

What do I need to know about emails?

Emails are not protected in the same way that phone calls and letter mail are protected. This means that if someone sees the emails, they may know that you are a patient at Unity Health Toronto. They may also see any other information shared in the email.

- Emails may be read or saved by your internet or phone provider (such as Rogers).
- There is always a chance that an email could be read by others, or changed without you knowing.
- Emails can contain a virus that can harm your computer.
- If your phone or device is lost or stolen, emails could be read by others.

Is email communication optional?

Yes. Email communication is not required. If you decide that you do not want to communicate in this way, the hospital will continue contacting you by telephone or regular mail. If you chose not to email, your care will not be affected.

Can I change my mind about email?

Yes. You can change your mind about email communication at any time by contacting your doctor or care team.

How does Unity Health Toronto protect my information?

- Your phone number and email address are kept secure in our systems.
- Any information that you send us may be added to your record if it is important for your care.
- Your email may be shared with other hospital staff if it is needed for your care, to run the Hospital, or for another reason that the law allows.

Can I use emails for an emergency?

No, emails sent to the hospital may not be read right away. Do not send email for medical emergencies. If you need immediate help, call your clinic or health care provider, or go to the Emergency department.

What else do I need to do?

Check your emails regularly. Tell the hospital if you change email addresses.

IMPORTANT: Unity Health Toronto will never ask patients or families to send personal identifiers by email (OHIP number, hospital number, or address). If you get a email asking for this information, please do not respond. This may be a harmful message.
