Immunization Requirements

A) Tuberculosis Skin Test (TST)

Q) What is a two-step Tuberculosis skin test?

A two-step TB skin test (TST) involves two tests performed within one to four weeks of each other. It can be administered and read by a nurse, a nurse practitioner or a physician. Documentation of a 2-step TB skin test must include 4 dates and 2 readings. If you have never completed, a 2-Step Tuberculin Skin Test before you must book an appointment with your family doctor or walk in clinic to get this done. This test can take up to 10 working day to be completed.

NOTE: If you are able to provide documentation of two one-step TSTs which were done less than 12 months apart, this is also acceptable to meet the requirement of a two-step TST.

Q) Will Unity Health provide me with a Tuberculosis skin test (TST)?

No. If a TST is required you can consult your doctor, nurse practitioner or a walk-in clinic to have the test done.

Q) I have documentation of a two-step Tuberculosis skin test (TST) completed in the past, will I require another one?

Documentation of a two-step TST completed any time in your lifetime is accepted by WHSW (i.e. meets WHSW requirements).

If you have a documented positive TST then you do not require any TST after that. See the next question below for more information regarding what documentation is required in this case.

All new staff with a documented negative two-step TST completed at any time in their lifetime are to complete the Tuberculosis exposure risk assessment (below). If one or more of the listed high risk factors (below) applies to you, an Occupational Health Nurse will review to determine if you need to provide a baseline (one-step) TST prior to your start date.

Tuberculosis exposure risk assessment

The risk assessment should include documentation of the following risk factors since the most recent documented negative TST/AGRA or previous two (2) years whichever is most recent:

- Unprotected contact to TB in the workplace or household contact.
- Consumption of unpasteurized milk or dairy products.
- Travel to or lived for at least three (3 months in high risk countries in which there is a high disease burden within the previous six (6) months, as identified by the World Health Organization (WHO). Refer to the WHO website for more details (Global tuberculosis report 2024).
- History of diagnosed active TB disease without documentation of adequate treatment.

Additional conditions that may increase TB infection risk among HCWs include: HIV infection; Alcohol use disorder; Smoking; Living in congregate settings or an immunocompromised state

Q) I have had a positive Tuberculosis skin test (TST) in the past; will I require another test?

No, you will not require another test if you can provide appropriate documentation outlined below.

If you have had a positive TST in the past, please provide documentation of that test result. Please note that documentation of chest x-ray which was done on/after the date of the positive TST, confirmation of assessment and treatment of latent TB will also required.

Q) Does documentation of two (2) one-step TSTs completed more than one week apart meet the two-step TST requirement?

If you are able to provide documentation of two one-step TSTs which were done less than 12 months apart, this is acceptable to meet the requirement of a two-step TST. However, all new staff are to complete the Tuberculosis exposure risk assessment (listed above). If one or more of the listed high risk factors (listed above) applies to you, you are required to provide a baseline (one-step) TST prior to your start date.

Q) I have TB results via bloodwork (QuantiFERON/IGRA). Can I use this documentation?

A POSITIVE Quantiferon/IGRA test result is acceptable in lieu of a positive TST.

If your Quantiferon/IGRA test is not positive, WHSW cannot accept it and you must provide documentation of a two-step TST prior to your start date.

Q) I have had BCG vaccine. Do I still have to complete a TB skin test?

Yes, you will still need to complete a TB skin test. TST is not contraindicated if you have had BCG vaccination.

Q) I have historically tested positive on a TB skin test (TST) but I do not have documentation of the test result, so my provider has ordered a chest x-ray. Can I submit the x-ray report in lieu of documentation of a two-step TST?

A chest x-ray cannot be accepted in lieu of a TST. If you have had a positive TST in the past then please provide documentation of the TST result. If you are unable to provide documentation of the old test result then you must complete another TST and provide documentation of that.

Q) I previously completed a chest x-ray for other reasons. Can I use this documentation?

Yes, if it provides the required information and was completed after the positive TST result.

B) Measles, Mumps, Rubella (MMR)

Q) I have documentation of MMR/varicella vaccinations. Do I still need to do bloodwork?

No, you do not need to provide both. Unity Health requires documentation of EITHER vaccination OR blood titres showing immunity to MMR/ varicella. If you already have documentation of adequate vaccination (i.e. 2 doses MMR, 2 doses varicella), you will not need to provide bloodwork results.

Q) I completed my MMR and varicella immunizations several years ago. Are they still valid?

Yes, they are still valid.

Q) I completed bloodwork for MMR/varicella, and my results are “non-reactive/indeterminate”. What does this mean? Do I need to complete any vaccinations?

Non-reactive/intermediate means you are not immune. If your blood titres do not show immunity, Unity Health strongly recommends two doses of MMR and two doses of varicella. If you have completed these vaccinations in the past, we will accept the documentation for it. If you need vaccinations, please see page 11 for WHSW contact information and business hours.

Q) Am I considered immune if I only have documentation of one MMR and/or varicella vaccine?

If you have documentation of ONE dose of MMR/varicella vaccine, you will need one additional dose of MMR/varicella vaccine in order to be considered immune.

If you believe you've had two doses of MMR and/or varicella in the past but do not have documentation of the vaccinations, then you may complete bloodwork to confirm your immunity.

C) Varicella (Chickenpox)

Q) I have had a previous history of chickenpox. How do I proceed with providing this documentation?

In order to confirm a previous history of chickenpox, you will need to provide documentation of blood titres (bloodwork) confirming immunity OR proof of two varicella vaccinations.

D) Hepatitis B ImmunityQ) Do I need to complete Hepatitis B immunity requirements?

Yes – all Unity Health employees are required to submit proof of Hepatitis B immunity AND documentation of at least three doses of the Hepatitis B vaccine.

Q) I have previously received Hepatitis B vaccinations. Do I still need to complete bloodwork?

Yes, further blood testing is required after receiving Hepatitis B vaccinations. We require blood titres showing immunity for Hepatitis B in addition to documentation of a complete series (3 doses) of hepatitis B vaccination to consider your immune to hepatitis B.

Q) If my Hepatitis B Immunity blood test results are “non-immune” or “indeterminate”, what does that mean?

Please contact WHSW (contact information on page 11) and speak to an occupational health nurse. They will ask you to provide details of your history of hepatitis b vaccination and testing in order to determine what you require to be considered immune to hepatitis B.

E) Tetanus, Diphtheria & Pertussis (Tdap)Q) Is the Tetanus/Diphtheria/Pertussis vaccination mandatory?

Tetanus, Diphtheria & Pertussis (Tdap) vaccination is not mandatory but highly recommended (as per Health Canada guidelines) once in adulthood (after the age of 18) and Tetanus and Diphtheria (TD) is recommended every 10 years.

Q) My TD (Tetanus, Diphtheria) vaccination was given last year, so my provider states it is not expired. Can I use this documentation for Pertussis?

No, if the vaccination does not include Pertussis, it is not acceptable. We only accept documentation of a dose containing Pertussis irrespective of the time since your last TD vaccination.
